HAVE YOU BEEN ENJOYING THE POOL?

This has been a wonderful suNNy and warm summer to enjoy our lovely Cadgewith pool.

This is just a reminder that the pool will be closed soon after Labor Day.

BE SURE TO ENJOY THE LAST FEW DAYS OF SUMMER SWIMMING!!!

CADGEWITH FARMS ASSOCIATION ELECTION WILL BE ON SEPTEMBER 8, 2016 AT THE HAM DINNER AT 5 PM. $4.00 CHARGE FOR DINNER AND PLEASE PAY IN ADVANCE.

SEE YOU THERE!!!

FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dear Residents of Cadgewith Farms, as some of you know, I will not be running for President of the Cadgewith Farms Association. Poor health has made the decision easy for me. My hope and prayer is that the new President and Board will continue to grow and give all our residents here in Cadgewith the best activities ever.

After four years on the CFA Board and two years as your President, it is time to give the reins to others.

I thank you for the opportunity to serve you all these years. May God Bless you and keep you!

Larry King
C.F.A. Past President

Thank You Larry King

The residents of Cadgewith Farms want you to know how much your time effort and hard work of the past years has been appreciated. Being President takes alot of hours of planning and coordination with many people in the Park. You never complained no matter how stressful things became.

We all want you to know that you are appreciated and will be missed sitting on the board at meetings and at activities. from your Friends and Residents

WATCH YOUR SPEED WHEN DRIVING IN THE PARK. THE SPEED LIMIT IS 15 MPH BY STATE LAW. REMIND YOUR FRIENDS AND FAMILY WHEN THEY VISIT!!! REMIND DELIVERY PEOPLE AS WELL ABOUT SPEED LIMIT!!!

THANK YOU SO MUCH

I would like to express my appreciation to an unknown person who found a ring of keys that I had misplaced.

It was an answer to my prayers and a very kind act by someone. Thanks again to a special person and God Bless you!!

MYOPIA

My neighbor's world revolves around sports,
No matter what the season or the game,
He'll sit glued to his TV set,
And watch until his fanny is lame.

His children might run around the neighborhood,
And his wife could have a torrid affair,
Still this macho man stares straight ahead,
Squinting in the reflected glare.

He'll nibble on chips and sip a beer,
And runs to the bathroom at halftime,
There's no time for a nutritious meal,
To him, junk food is just sublime.

Life and death struggles around the globe,
Don't concern this former jock,
His attention is riveted on batting averages,
And how much time is left on the clock.

Still he feels he's a true patriot,
He pays his taxes and stands for the anthem,
He's very vocal about his right to bear arms,
Yet his priority is always athletic mayhem.

There's no way I could ever change him,
He's content in his own special way,
Worrying about people outside America,
Can't interfere with the next important play!

SHUFFLEBOARD UP-DATE

As hot as it has been, we have had a wonderful time. At the last Carnival Shoot nearly 30 people came out to join us. Now, we are coming into the fall and weather will dictate when we will change to afternoon and how far into the Fall we will be able to continue playing. We all have such a good time and everyone is invited to come and join us for lots of fun, laughter and friendship.

LABOR DAY

Labor Day, the first Monday in September, is a creation of the labor movement and is dedicated to the social and economic achievements of American workers. It constitutes a yearly national tribute to the contributions workers have made to the strength, prosperity and well-being of our country.

More than 100 years after the first Labor Day observance, there is still some doubt as to who first proposed the holiday for workers. Some records show that Pater J. McGuire, general secretary of the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners and a co-founder of the American Federation of Labor, was the first in suggesting a day to honor those "who from rude nature have delved and carved all the grandeur we behold."

Labor Day ... is devoted to no man, living or dead, to no sect, race, battle, war or nation. It is different from all other holidays!!!

LABOR DAY

Fall Leaf Pick Up

We will have a fall leaf pick up again this year. Please remember NO STICKS are allowed in the leaf piles! Stay tuned for exact dates on the pickups.

Management Dinner

The management dinner was a great success even though it was HOT! We hope you all enjoyed the BBQ from Crossroads in Grand Ledge and we look forward to next year.

Rule Changes

We would like to take a moment and point out a major rule change that will go into effect soon. Page 14, Landscaping, Part E: "One bird feeder, per yard with NO pile of food on the ground. If food piles are found a $50.00 fee will be assessed per incident."

Due to many issues with animals tearing up residents skirting and yards we must make this change to not allow piles of food for animals to feast on. Trapping only helps so much and not effective if we are still providing food at easy access. Thank-you for your cooperation.

Website & Facebook

Did you know we have a website? Our website is www.CadgewithFarms.info. We have created a resident's section with current newsletter, up to date calendar, and past newsletters in case you missed one. If you subscribe to the website, you will receive email notifications when new information has been added. We also have a Facebook page to help report news in and around the community, like us on Facebook to get the most up to date news.

Contacting you

Please make sure to keep your contact information up to date at the office. As well as emergency contact information. We can send text messages and email if either of those are better than a call. Just let the office know the best way to contact you. Our email is Cadgewithfarm@gmail.com

Backflow Prevention - What Does it Mean to You?

From: <http://www.abpa.org/page/BackflowPrevention>

Taking Clean Water for Granted... Every time you fill a glass with water from the tap, prepare a meal, or take a bath, you take for granted that the water will always be clean, pure, and healthy. Occasionally, situations occur outside of our control that can jeopardize the quality of your drinking water. A very common occurrence in a water distribution system is the temporary loss of pressure due to the breakage of a water supply pipe or water main. When these situations occur, conditions are present that can allow the backflow of pollutants or contaminants into the water system and threaten the purity of our drinking water system.

What is Backflow? Backflow is the undesirable reversal of flow of fluids, chemicals, or any other foreign material into the public drinking water system. There are two forms of backflow: 1) Backsiphonage - usually caused by a loss of pressure in the drinking water system. 2) Backpressure - caused by pumps, piping systems elevation, or thermal expansion from a heat source. Backflow can cause our drinking water to become polluted or contaminated. Pollution reduces the quality of drinking water. It does not create a public health hazard, but adversely affects the aesthetics of taste, odor, and appearance. However, when the drinking water is contaminated, there is concern for public health if the water is consumed. This creates a threat of illness or, in extreme cases, human mortality.

What are Potential Contamination Hazards from Cross-Connections? Potential threats to a drinking water supply include, but are not limited to: chemical plants using equipment connected to the public water supply, hospitals, mortuaries, medical, dental, and veterinary clinics, laboratories, irrigation and lawn-sprinkler systems, marinas, and connections with an auxiliary water supply, which could be polluted.

Can Backflow be Prevented? Yes, the backflow of undesirable elements into the drinking water system can be prevented. A cross-connection is a physical connection between the water supply and any source of possible pollution or contamination. By eliminating or controlling all actual or potential cross-connections, the public drinking water system will be protected within the city water main system and within buildings. Simple plumbing changes can easily eliminate many cross-connections. However, where this is not possible, backflow prevention assemblies are installed to protect the water supply.

What Type of Backflow Prevention Assembly is Necessary? The type of backflow prevention assembly required is determined by the degree of hazard. In other words, the severity of the actual or potential hazard will dictate what level of protection is necessary to adequately protect the drinking water. For temporary cross-connections, such as a garden hose, an inexpensive hose bib vacuum breaker is acceptable. Other types of backflow prevention assemblies are available for permanent specialized applications, such as fire sprinkler systems, irrigation sprinkler systems and piping connections within a commercial facility.

What Can You Do? First, you should determine if there are potential cross-connections in your home or business. The local plumbing inspector or water provider can assist in this determination. Next, you should investigate alternatives for eliminating or protecting against all actual or potential cross-connections. After determining the necessary method of cross-connection control, the appropriate plumbing changes or the addition of a mechanical backflow prevention assembly should be made. Local codes or government regulations are used to determine what specific backflow prevention assemblies are required for each application. The local water provider should always be consulted prior to purchasing and installing any backflow prevention assembly.

Sapphire, the celestial gemstone, has been treasured for thousands of years. The ancient Persians believed that the earth rested on a giant sapphire and its reflection colored the sky. Sapphire is found in all the colors of the heavens from midnight blue to the bright blue of noon sky, to a golden sunrise to a fiery reddish orange sunset and a delicate violet of twilight.
